Principal's Message

The theme that this year's Yearbook Committee chose is "involvement".

There are many ways to get involved at Hardisty. The most important of course is in preparing oneself through the subjects that are offered at school. If one accepts the challenge of doing his best in learning to live in harmony with members of his family, other students and teachers, he has made a great beginning to a successful life. Of course, there are many after-school activities and extramural activities which when directed properly, have much value in learning as well. But regardless of which activities one gets involved with, the most cherishable benefits are derived from working with people enthusiastically.

Our Yearbook Committee is to be congratulated for their ambitious undertaking in producing a yearbook. This yearbook will become more valuable as time goes by and we will look over the pictures that remind us of our wonderful days of youth with fond recollections. Then, as the days go by, we will become more thankful for the work done by this committee.

Thank you for your hard work and keen involvement on our behalf.

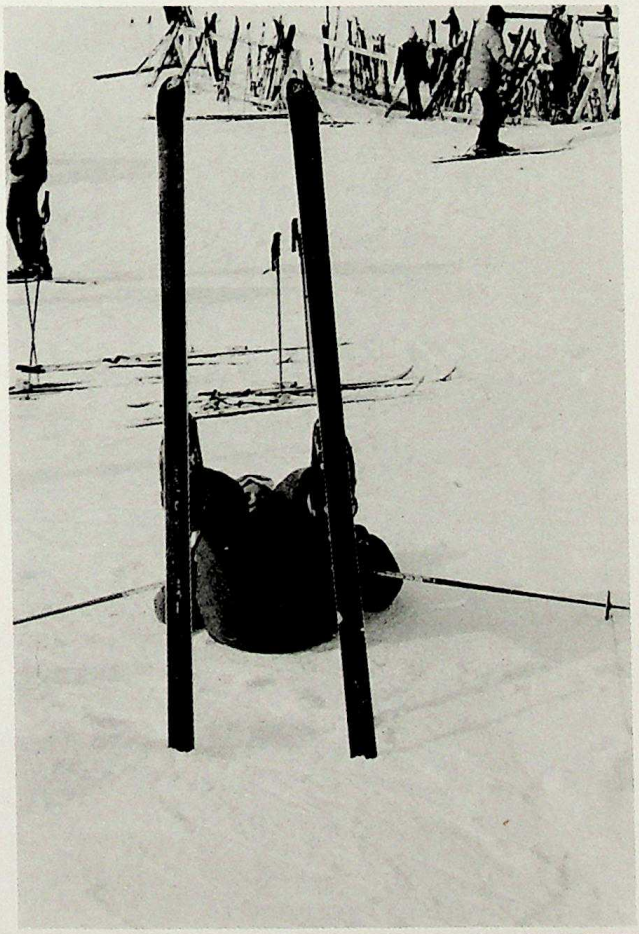
The "Hornet"

Yearbook Staff

wishes to thank all those places of business who advertised in this 1975 edition.

The End


Many long hours have gone into this 1975 edition of "The Hornet". We hope that the end result will prove to be enjoyable to you now and to help you relive many experiences as you refer to this yearbook in years to come.
